ALSO[®] Instructor Course

This one-day course concentrates on learning specific teaching skills for didactic lectures, hands-on small group workstations, and testing stations presented in the ALSO[®] Provider Course. This course focuses on adult learning, faculty development, giving effective feedback, teaching in small group workstations and evaluating participants in the two testing components used in the ALSO[®] Provider Course. You must have current ALSO[®] Provider status in order to take this course.

The ALSO[®] Instructor Course includes sessions on:

- Teaching interactive workstations using mannequins and other equipment—demonstrate teaching capabilities by providing hands-on role play utilizing maternal/fetal mannequins along with timely feedback in order to adapt teaching methods to various situations
- Presenting effective lectures—demonstrate how to give a lecture by leading a lecture and receiving feedback from faculty and other participants that can be used to enhance lecture performance
- Teaching workstations using slides—describe how to assist participants in dealing with questions and conflicts that can occur during the workstations that utilize PowerPoint such as “Fetal Surveillance” and “OB Cases”
- Offering effective feedback—discuss educational tools that can be used when giving feedback to ALSO[®] course participants

Application for CME credit has been filed with the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP). Determination of credit is pending.

COURSE DISCLAIMER:

The material presented in this course is being made available by the AAFP for educational purposes only. This material is not intended to represent the only, nor necessarily best, methods or procedures appropriate for the medical situations discussed, but rather is intended to present an approach, view, statement, or opinion of the faculty which may be helpful to others who face similar situations.
