University of Wisconsin
School of Medicine and Public Health

Assistant Professor Fox Valley Campus

JOIN AN INNOVATIVE, CREATIVE FACULTY WHERE OUR MISSION IS:

- Teaching physicians • Caring for patients
- Serving the community • Discovering knowledge

This is the place to teach family medicine residents in a strong primary care community, in an academic family medicine department ranked third among US medical schools. (US News and World Report 2009 “Best Graduate Schools” survey). We seek a well-rounded family physician, to practice full-spectrum family medicine, including obstetrics and inpatient medicine, and participate in resident teaching and scholarly activity at our community-based, university affiliated 6-6-6 residency program. MD and DO applicants are welcome. DO candidates are sought to lead the education for osteopathic interns and residents at our dually-accredited program. Expertise in integrative medicine would be welcome.

The newly renovated clinic is near its partner hospitals, St. Elizabeth Hospital and Appleton Medical Center, and care is delivered based on the best practices model. The Fox Cities offer a collegial practice environment combining the feel of a small town with the amenities of a larger city, outstanding quality-of-life, excellent schools, low crime, and very reasonable cost-of-living.
