

Angela Gatzke-Plamann, MD
Mile Bluff Medical Center

Growing up in Wisconsin, Dr. Angela Gatzke-Plamann wanted to be a rural physician for as long as she can remember. She started her career in healthcare as a certified nursing assistant, working weekends in high school in a local nursing home. She attended the University of Wisconsin-Madison and completed her bachelor's degree in Biochemistry. She stayed in Madison to attend the University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health where she met her future husband. She and her husband completed residency at the University of Vermont, she in family medicine and he in pediatrics. In keeping with her rural goals, she completed an Obstetrics and Procedural Medicine Fellowship through Duluth Clinic. She and her husband then established themselves in Mauston, WI where they have been working at Mile Bluff Medical Center since 2010. She enjoys the variety and continuity of her family medicine practice, caring for patients in clinic, long term care, practicing primary care, pregnancy care and delivery care as well as cesarean sections. In 2022, she took on a leadership role as the Chief Medical Officer and enjoys the unique challenges and learning opportunities that role provides.

She and her husband have three children and enjoy being active outdoors in all types of weather.
